EXECUTOR SEEKS A WILL CONSTRUCTION

Interpreter Used To Get A Divorce For Maria Lombardo—Court News

Gertrude Deahl roamed once too often as she is being sued for divorce by her husband, Clarence Deahl, who avers that she would never give him a chance really to start housekeeping. It was on July 10, 1910, that they were married in Everaole, Pa., where plaintiff desired to start housekeeping, but was prevented, he claims, by his wife who kept him moving from place to place until he was compelled by reason of parental influence to seek quarters where life would be more desirable. She gave him about two months of home life, he states, in Youngstown, O., from April 15 to June 14, 1915. She went to parts unknown, finally landing with her parents. He has since lived in Mt. Vernon alone, except for a "visit" which his wife paid him, Feb. 21-March 5, 1917. She went to her home in Scottsdale, Pa., taking Clarence, 5, and Grace, 4, their children. Alleging violation on part of his wife of her marriage vows, he charges her with gross neglect and cruelty and asks for a divorce, together with custody of minor children. B. E. Sapp represents him in the action.

To Construe Will— Seeking construction of the will and codicil of Isaac F. Robinson of which he is executor, I. E. Robinson has commenced action through his attorneys, Ewalt & Blair, against George W. Robinson and others. Plaintiff states that there is about $2,000 of personal property, after payment of debts, and asks whether this is to be disposed of by terms of the will or whether testator died intestate as far as this property is concerned. Secondly, plaintiff asks whether, if testator died intestate as to money, the widow is entitled to a distributive share under the law.

Plaintiff Couldn't Talk— An unusual divorce case came up for hearing Thursday afternoon when Judge Blair severed the marital ties binding Maria and Antonio Lombardo, the former being plaintiff. As Maria could not speak English, James Zucaro was secured as interpreter. She was born in Sicily and claims she hasn't seen her husband for 15 years. At present she is employed at the Hotel Curtis.

Upon her death, the farm in Jefferson township is to go to a son, Elmer Shultz, or his children, if he be dead, and the rest of the estate to this son and Bertha Kaylor, a daughter. A. J. Workman is named executor.

ALSDORF CHARGES PLACED

Signed by C. A. Mitchell, mayor, Ed. L. Parker, safety director, and P. J. Parker, chief of police, charges were formally made Friday morning against Albert Alsdorf, suspended patrolman. The charges are directed to the suspended officer and state that he is removed as a patrolman for the following reasons: "inefficiency, malfeasance, misfeasance in office, and particularly in making an unwarranted assault upon one John Ford on the 17th day of February, 1917." Five days are granted Alsdorf to reply, a copy of which goes to the civil service commission which body must then set a date for hearing within ten days and hold the same within 30 days. Final jurisdiction is given the commission under the law to decide whether the charges are to be sustained and the patrolman permanently removed or whether he shall be reinstated. As there existed much doubt as to who was the "appointing power" of Alsdorf, all three of the above-named officials signed the charges, thus playing safe.

Washington, March 31.—Buckeye members of congress will be a factor not only in devising ways and means to finance the war, should there be one, but also in any adjustments of the tariff that may be necessary to protect the United States from an invasion of cheap foreign made goods after the war is over.

The Democratic members of the ways and means committee, after being empowered by the Democratic caucus to fill the vacancies on that committee, met and slated Representative George White of Marietta to succeed former Representative Alfred G. Allen of Cincinnati on the ways and means committee.

Representative Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati will be reappointed as a Republican member of the committee. Thus Ohio will have two out of the Representative Ashbrook was mentioned for the ways and means vacancy, but it was finally decided that he shall remain at the head of the committee on coinage, weights and measures. Ashbrook was honored by being re-elected secretary of the Democratic caucus—a position in which he has served for eight years.

Representative-elect Snook of the Fifth district will get a good committee assignment, as he has a creditable past record as a member of the house and a strong standing with the leaders.

Representative Brumbaugh will continue to serve on the following committees: Expenditures in the treasury department, insular affairs, railways and canals, territories.

Representative Bathrick of the Fourteenth district want a place on the naval affairs committee, but his assignment is as yet a matter of doubt.

A conference of the thirteen Ohio Democratic members of the house was called to take place in the office of Representative Sherwood. At that meeting the various members will indicate their committee preferences, and if all differences can be ironed out the delegation will present a slate of candidates that will have the unanimous approval of the delegation.

BOYS' IDENTITY UNESTABLISHED

Mrs. D. C. Young, Accidental Shooting Victim Is Improved

Mrs. D. C. Young, the victim of an accidental discharge of a shotgun on Wednesday night at her home on the Butler road, was reported improved at the Mt. Vernon hospital Friday.

Although Mrs. Young suffers comparatively little, considering the painful extent of her injuries—a chunk of flesh four inches long and three inches wide having been torn from the inside of her left knee—at the same time she is not able to sleep to amount to anything, due chiefly to the excitement of the experience.

It was stated at the Young home Friday that there is absolutely no clue as to the identity of the boys, or men, whose shooting at a dog in the rear of the Young home caused Mrs. Young to step into the back yard and, in view of this, no steps can be taken toward prosecution for trespassing. It is the belief that two boys shot at the dog.
